

The Philadelphia Society

National Meeting, April 1-3, 2011
The Adolphus Hotel, Dallas Texas

The Perils of Progressivism

The Luncheon Meeting is dedicated to the memory of Mel Bradford and W.H. Hutt, both Professors at the University of Dallas. The optional dinner, Saturday night, is hosted by the Claremont Institute.

At the luncheon, Bill Campbell, Secretary of The Philadelphia Society, will be reading a tribute to Mel Bradford by Forrest McDonald. To honor both the University of Dallas and the Claremont Institute, we have created from our tape archives, the famous debate on The Real Lincoln between Mel Bradford and Harry Jaffa from the October 12, 1979 Regional Meeting. In addition we have added Forrest McDonald's address at the same meeting on King Hog, Cultural Conservatism, and the Antebellum South.
