

Keeping the Tablets: A Conference on the Future of American Conservatism
The Waldorf Astoria, New York City, June 3-4, 1988

Friday, June 3

- | | |
|-------------------------------|-------------|
| 4:30 - 6:30 pm — Registration | West Foyer |
| 6:30 - 7:30 pm — Reception | Hilton Room |
| 7:30 - 9:30 pm — Dinner | Empire Room |
- Larry P. Arnn, The Claremont Institute
Charles R. Kesler, Claremont McKenna College
William F. Buckley, Jr., National Review

Saturday, June 4

- | | |
|--|---------------|
| 9:30 - 11:30 am — Round-table on American Domestic Policy
Thomas G. West, University of Dallas (Chair)
T. Kenneth Cribb, Asst. to the President for Domestic Affairs
George Gilder, Author and Lecturer
William Kristol, U. S. Department of Education
Cal Thomas, Syndicated Columnist | Astor Room |
| 11:45 am - 1 pm — Luncheon
Bruce C. Sanborn, The Claremont Institute
Robert L. Bartley, The Wall Street Journal | Jade Room |
| 1:15 - 3:15 pm — Round-table on American Foreign Policy
Tom Bethell, Journalist (Chair)
J. D. Crouch, U. S. Senate Staff
Frank J. Gaffney, Jr., Hudson Institute
Patrick Glynn, James Madison Foundation
Alan Keyes, American Enterprise Institute | Astor Room |
| 3:15 - 3:45 pm — Coffee Break | |
| 3:45 - 5:45 pm — Round-table on Conservatism's Future
Charles Heatherly, The Heritage Foundation (Chair)
Midge Decter, The Committee for the Free World
M. Stanton Evans, Education and Research Institute
Harry V. Jaffa, The Claremont Graduate School
Walter Williams, George Mason University | Astor Room |
| 5:45 pm — Concluding Remarks by Bruce Sanborn | |
| 5:55 - 7:15 pm — Reception | Basildon Room |